In the Johannesburg township of Soweto, a young, black gangster in South Africa, who leads a group of violent criminals, slowly discovers the meaning of compassion, dignity, and his own humanity. Reprint. A South African film, releasing February 2006 by Miramax) (General Fiction)

The search for a means to an end to apartheid erupts into conflict between a black township youth and his "old-fashioned" black teacher.

Regile is a zama-zama working illegally in an abandoned mine near Barberton. Being eighteen, Regile has moved up the ranks and is now paid a salary to keep the other child workers in line.

A child wanders too far into the Knysna Forest ... he never returns. Nine years later government officials working on a census find a white child living with a Coloured family in the mountains beyond the forest. They take him away from the stricken Fiel, who has brought him up as her son, and give him back to his 'original' family. Stunned and helpless, Benjamin waits for Fiel to reclaim him. But, powerless against authority, Fiel never comes. Benjamin has to grow up before he can go in search of the truth ...

Far from the Madding Crowd by Thomas Hardy from Coterie Classics All Coterie Classics have been formatted for ereaders and devices and include a bonus link to the free audio book. " I shall do one thing in this life - one thing certain - that is, love you, and long for you, and keep wanting you till I die. " Thomas Hardy, Far from the Madding Crowd Far From the Madding Crowd is a romance novel featuring a strong, convention defying heroine, a smart and gentle farmer, and a society in the midst of change during the Victorian era. Recently made into an award-winning film, Far From the Madding Crowd is a hidden gem of a novel.

Who says time travelers have to be young and attractive? Heck, they don't even have to be nerdy and agile! Sharolett Koenig dispels all the Hollywood myths about time travel in her latest novel, The New Domestic. Sixty plus-year-old main character, Paulette, suddenly finds herself in the 1897 bedroom of a young couple after trying out her latest antique acquisition, a "New Domestic" sewing machine, leaving behind her husband, Carl, who is battling the early stages of Alzheimer's disease. And that's not all he has to battle when their daughter shows up at their home and tries to have Carl committed to a nursing home after learning that her mother is missing. Meantime, Paulette has her own battles to wage in a past world where women are supposed to be refined and dignified, not outspoken and belligerent as she can sometimes be. When she discovers where (when) she is, Paulette sets out to find a way back, not even sure how she got there in the first place. The New Domestic will have you in stitches and sitting on the edge of your seat. You'll never sit down at a sewing machine again without thinking that the simple straight seam you're sewing might lead you on an adventure of epic proportions. Or that the zigzag stitches could be your ticket to a new life full of twists and turns.

Dreams are the currency of Okri's writing, particularly in this first book of poems, An African Elegy, but also in his books of short stories and prize-winning novel The Famished Road. Okri's dreams are made on the stuff of Africa's colossal economic and political problems, and reading the poems is to experience a constant succession of metaphors of resolution in both senses of the word. Virtually every poem contains an exhortation to climb out of the African miasma, and virtually every poem harvests the dream of itself with an upbeat restorative ending' - Giles Foden, Times Literary Supplement
