Not solely covering new products, Innovation Management focuses on new services and new business models; in doing so, it provides an introduction to new business development. The book follows the logic of the innovation process, from idea development via selection to implementation, and discusses these topics both on the level of the company and individual projects. Its content is evidence-based, but with many practical examples. This textbook ensures up-to-date subject knowledge by providing a contemporary approach: novel methodologies such as design thinking, lean innovation and open innovation are included. Exercises and discussion questions at the end of each chapter enable self-testing and reflection. Comprehension of new topics is aided by an in-margin glossary and further multimedia links on the companion website. It is an essential resource for undergraduate students seeking a rigorous and science-based, yet accessible and manageable, overview of innovation management.

"This textbook covers all the theory and technology sections that students need to learn in order to pass level 1, 2 and 3 automotive courses from the Institute of Motor Industry, City & Guilds and other exam boards. It has been produced in partnership with ATT Training and is a companion to their online learning resources. Learning is made more enjoyable and effective as the topics in the book are supported with online activities, video footage, assessments and further reading. If you are using ATT Training materials then this is the ideal textbook for your course"--

An international team of researchers studied the following aspects of training in Italy's motor vehicle repair and sales sector: structure and characteristics; institutional and social context; relationship to Italy's overall labor market; changing structural, economic, and organizational conditions; and training and recruitment and relationship to Italy's education system. Social and labor/employment statistics were analyzed, and case studies of an independent auto repair shop and four automobile distributors were conducted. Included in each case study were a profile of the company and analysis of its human resource development/training concepts and policies, and provisions for continuing vocational training. A distinct lack of initial vocational training required to produce workers capable of keeping pace with the rapid changes in the sector was noted. This deficiency was partly compensated for by courses provided by manufacturers and, to a lesser degree, related associations. The training currently offered by the companies studied was rated average to better than average. Employee training was being provided almost exclusively by manufacturers. A trend away from training only in traditional technical areas toward training in areas deemed useful for overall company management (including planning, marketing, and telemarketing) was noted.
